[illegible] Raid on the Indians.

CHEYENNE, Wy, Oct. 24.—Gen Crook being satisfied that Red Cloud's and Red Leaf's bands of Sioux were about to depart with the view of joining the hostiles in the north, they having refused to comply with the orders to come into the agency to receive rations, and stubbornly remaining in camp on Chadron creek, from whence it is positively known they were communicating with the northern hostiles and receiving into their camp such as came in, without waiting for the arrival of Gen. [illegible]'s troops, determined on disarming them, and at daylight on the morning of the 23d inst. Gen. THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Nothing more is heard of the mission of the Czarowitch to the courts at Vienna, Berlin and London.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: The Russian imperial court will return to St. Petersburg Nov. 17th. The same journal in a leading article says we have reason to believe that Russia has no longer any illusions about the way her tendencies are viewed here, or that the first step which threatens our interests in the East will be answered by another for their protection.

PESTH, Oct. 24.—A Hungarian minister of war has informed the finance committee that in case of need [illegible] 000 armed militia could be completely equipped and mobolized within eight days.

RAGUSA, Oct. 24.—It is reported that the Prince of Montenegro has declared his willingness to accept the six weeks' armistice, but only on condition that Mostar be surrendered by the Turks.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The special correspondent of the Times with the Turkish army in Servia reports the Turks took Djunis on Monday after a determined fight which lasted ten hours. More than half the entrenchments on the bank of the river Djunis also fell into their hands.

A Times' dispatch from Vienna says Turkey has declared her readiness to accept the six weeks armistice provided it is recommended by all the powers. It is reassuring to hear from Constantinople that hopes of a more peaceful turn in affairs have considerably increased. This feeling is caused by the unexpected conciliatory attitude of General Tchernayeff. There has not been any trace of Russia's offering provocation with a view to bringing about a collision. On the contrary such intention has been decidedly disclaimed, while affairs look better in Constantinople. One can trace all around Turkey the ring prepared by Russia which is closing and tightening rapidly and firmly. The friendly relations between Servia and Montenegro which had become endangered, have been restored. Prince Nekita has promised Servia that he would in no case accept armistice extending beyond the present year. On the Roumanian side matters have not gone so fairly. Prince John Ghika is going on a special mission to the European courts. This seems to indicate an earnest desire on the part of Roumania to avoid if possible making common cause with Russia. She probably wishes to ascertain whether she may rely upon the protection of the treaty of Paris by which her neutrality was guaranteed. If she finds she is left to herself she will come to an understanding with Russia.

A Berlin dispatch to the Times reports that the ironclad Peter the Great was recalled at the moment it was leaving Cronstadt for the Mediterranean. It is believed even now Russia prefers to effect the semi independence of Bulgaria by negotiations rather than by declaring war and that at all events she will defer war until winter.

The Telegraph's special from Belgrade says Prince Milan has received positive and formal assurance of Austria's non intervention.

A Vienna correspondent of the Daily News reports that arrests continue to be made in Constantinople on account of the last conspiracy. It is alleged that the purpose of the conspirators was to forcibly depose the reforming government. The former Grand Vizier, Mahmoud Pasha, is implicated. The members of the cabinet were to have been seized at the moment when Ignatieff arrived at the palace and the Beys in Bosnia were at the same time to have made a demonstration.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—Gen. Ignatieff, Russian ambassador, presented his credentials to the Sultan yesterday and subsequently had a private interview.

Additional arrests have been made in consequence of a conspiracy to assassinate the Grand Vizier and Midhat Pasha.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The imperial banks of Germany and Russia to-day increased their rate of discount one per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Intelligence has been received here that the Turkish consul and wife at Tiflis, Asiatic Russia, have been assassinated.

SEMLIN, Oct. 25.—The Servian government attributes recent reverses to the incapacity of Gen. Tchernayeff. The Servians deny the capture of Djunis by the Turks.

The note says four agents, namely Merero Ancera, Patira and Acoste, have been arrested and will be punished according to military law.

The fire in the Wellington mine has been extinguished and work will be resumed in a few weeks. The seam in the shaft of the Cornish farm has been tested to a depth of 15 feet and not through then. The 15 feet is solid coal.

The report of Mr. Dewdney, C. E., on the project to dyke the lower lands is very gratifying. It would appear that a small amount of dyking will relieve the farms on Chilliwhack and Sumas from the danger of flood and bring a very large tract of land now subject to overflow annually under cultivation.

The pumping machinery for the Esquimalt drydock arrived at Victoria per bark Hiliaron on Sunday last from England. The makers of the machinery are the well known firm of James Watt & Co. of Birmingham, who secured the contract at £6,500 delivered f. o. b. in the Thames. The pumps, it is estimated, will when erected clear the dock of water within six hours.

Two Indians died at Victoria of smallpox on Wednesday on Market alley and were buried the same night in shallow graves across Rock Bay. A white man named Bland from Washington Territory died in a shanty on Cormorant street, Thursday morning. The Indian pesthouse is full of patients, whose wants are now tolerably well attended to. The mortality, however, is great.

Election Frauds Apprehended.

The Post has a long article this evening beginning, There is grave reason to fear that the Democracy, despairing of carrying the State by fair means, have resorted to methods similar to those which are now being unearthed in New York. The article goes on to describe the method in which these frauds are being carried out. In the suburbs, on the city front, among sailor boarding houses, grocery stores, public works and factories, the agents of the Democracy have been working during the past two weeks. The result is seen in the enormous number of naturalized citizens which the State courts are making. Many of these naturalizations it is believed are fraudulent. The number is utterly out of proportion to the population. In the past two or three days alone one State court located in this city has made no less than one thousand voters out of foreign born citizens. It is a significant fact that comparatively few applications for citizenship are made in the United States courts. The reason is to be found in the fact that applicants in those courts are put through a rigorous course of sprouts, the witnesses closely questioned as to their knowledge of the applicant's residence, and all the safeguards of the law are strictly complied with. The researches of the United States officers have resulted in the discovery that there are about one hundred names on the Great Register through forged naturalization papers. A short time ago an individual was arrested on a charge of arson, and while under arrest his rooms were searched and a large number of forged naturalized papers, purporting to emanate from the United States district court, were found among his effects. The forger is under arrest. The authorities are reticent, and decline even to give the name of the party accused of forgery. This morning a man whose name for obvious reasons is suppressed, delivered a certificate of registration to the deputy U. S. marshal stating that he was not entitled to vote and that his conscience reproached him for having sworn falsely. He stated that while in a beer saloon the other night with a party of men, it was suggested that it was an easy matter to vote. When the matter was explained to him he went to one of the naturalization bureaus and was provided with witnesses and put through the courts. His name afterwards entered on the great register. The names of the witnesses were taken and warrants were issued for their arrest on charges of perjury and false registration. The man was not, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, arrested, but will be held as a witness against the accessories to the crime. Letters received here by officials from parties in the interior render it evident that similar frauds are being attempted there.

Suicide.

A man named B. Webster, a citizen of this place, a butcher by occupation, committed suicide last night by taking strychnine while under the influence of liquor.

Marine Disaster.

British Gold for China.

A few days ago the Evening Post, in its financial columns, suggested the possibility on account of the war risk placed by the British Lloyds on English bottoms that shipments of treasure from Great Britain to China which have hitherto taken the Suez route would go via San Francisco. It is now stated that such a course has already been decided upon and that bills are now being bought on San Francisco for the purchase of silver coin and bullion to the amount of about $1,000,000 for shipment by the next China steamer.

Gov. Irwin Declines to Call an Extra Session of the Legislature.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Gov. Irwin, who is in town, was interviewed this evening as to his intentions in the matter of calling an extra session of the legislature, as requested by the Democratic State central committee to take some action concerning the Supervisor of Election Hill's Black list. The governor stated he would not call an extra session as it was entirely unnecessary. He also said that the Attorney General [illegible] prepared an opinion [illegible] [illegible] objection which [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] franchise [illegible] and that in his suit in the district court the registration clerk as probate judge is supposed to satisfy himself as to an applicant's qualifications before allowing his name to go on the register. The judges of election can only determine certain points on challenge as to identity, residence etc., the other points being supposed to be settled by the appearance of the name on the register, which was expressly designed to avoid the necessity of proving citizenship at the polls.

Therefore no man's claim to the right of suffrage can be impugned if his name is on the great register, except by suit in the courts.

Election of President of Pioneers.

The Pioneers at a meeting this evening elected William T. Coleman President vice James Lick deceased. They also appointed a committee to look after their interest in the matter of the Lick Trust.

The Nationals have carried off the lion's share of the prizes this year having captured the Centennial trophy, the Rifle Association trophy which they have won for the second time and the long range prize. The meeting has excited less general interest than that of last year although it has been spiritedly contested by the competing marksmen.

A VOICE FROM A PATRIOTIC DEMOCRAT

PORTLAND, Oct. 25, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have been a Democrat since the nomination of Mr. Buchanan. I have never voted the Republican ticket either in national or State elections. My sympathies have been with the Southern people, although I have disapproved of many of their political acts, and until now I have aided, as far as votes can aid, the opposition to the party in power. I expected to vote for Mr. Tilden, whom I regarded as an honest and capable man, and to support the Democratic party as the best means of securing good government and pure political principles. I am, however, compelled to abandon my intention and, contrary to my inclinations, to support Hayes and the Republican party. I do this, I say, reluctantly, because it is not easy to throw aside old associations and to stand aloof from party friends, and also because it subjects one to unkind remarks and criticism. But my judgment is so decidedly against the evident purposes of the Democratic party that I cannot be deaf to its admonition.

It seems clear to me that the claim of intending to work reforms set up by the Democratic leaders is dishonestly made solely for the purpose of inducing voters to support Mr. Tilden. If there had been any real purpose to institute reforms the leaders of the party would have prevented the shocking conduct of the party in the South, which could easily have been done, and would have frowned upon the disloyal utterances of Southern orators which breathe the same spirit as that which fired the Southern heart in 1860 and 1861 to its destruction.

Furthermore, if there were any real patriotic feeling in the Democratic party, there would be no purpose of the party to press the payment of the Southern war claims as it is now clear there is. Nor would the disposition to mass the South in opposition to the North exist. Instead of being a national party the Democratic party is still a sectional party, and the old spirit which brought so much misery upon the South and the whole country is fostered and encouraged by it. It is unfriendly to the constitution; it is the secret bitter foe of a large portion of the citizens of the Union, and it is thoroughly imbued with the determination to rule or ruin. I cannot think it is wise to support it, and I shall not.

DEMOCRAT

METHODS OF ORATORY

There is no uniform rule to guide him who wishes to be an orator. The methods of preparing speeches and the manner of speaking among celebrated orators are as various as the orators themselves.

But it may be said that there are three general methods, one or other of which most men famous for their eloquence have adopted.

Some, with a great talent of expression and a natural ability to give easy and rapid utterance to thought, trust to the inspiration of the moment and speak off hand, at least without written preparation. Such is the case with many noted preachers, among others, with Spurgeon and Beecher.

Others make notes or headings of their subject and frame here and there a sentence and leave the rest to a careful study of their subject and to the moment of speaking.

Yet others carefully write out the whole of their speech and either commit it to memory or con it over very thoroughly before appearing in public to deliver it.

Webster and Everett always carefully prepared their orations in this way, while Clay often spoke with little or no preparation. John Bright makes notes and headings of his speeches and with great care writes out and commits to memory their most important passages. Gladstone also uses notes but only of facts and figures and never of sentences. For his expressions he trusts entirely to the moment of speaking. It is the same with Disraeli.

On the other hand Lord Derby writes out every word and usually commits his speech to memory.

M. Thiers is equally precise and works very hard correcting and altering his speeches till he has brought them to the most polished condition. He generally commits them to memory.

Very different is the method of Gambetta, the greatest of living French orators. He always speaks extempore, and his marvellous eloquence is the result of the inspiration of the moment.

A LETTER TO GENERAL LANE

To Senator Joseph Lane: I listened to your speech last night and was amazed at your mendacity. You boasted that tens of thousands of Democrats fought for the preservation of the Union; that President Lincoln, aided by Saml. J. Tilden, preserved the Union. Where were you in that time of peril? Did you not declare that before "Lincoln and his hirelings should invade the sacred soil of Virginia it should be done over your dead body?" Did you not say this in the Senate of the United States, misrepresenting the State of Oregon?

Did you not come home, arm and equip your son Joseph Lane, jr., and did he not fight for four long years in the rebel cause?

Did you not remain at home and with your son Lafayette Lane, give aid and comfort to the rebels by every means in your power?

To hear you speak last night one unacquainted with your record might have supposed that you were a staunch defender of the Union.

Gen. Lane, if men like you had succeeded, we would have had no country to-day. We would have had a miserably divided discordant lot of confederacies. And yet you prate about the Democracy putting down the rebellion.

YAKIMA CO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

The Republican Convention of Yakima county assembled in the court room at Yakima City on Saturday, September 30, 1876, at 1 o'clock P. M., and effected a temporary organization by electing Wm. Masters chairman, and S. P. Sterling secretary.

On motion, Messrs. Wallace, Ballman, Stabler, Lewis and Olmstead were appointed a committee on credentials.

Messrs. Hamilton, Eglin and Sterling were selected as committee on order of business.

On motion, Messrs. Benton, Marks and Kesling were elected committee on resolutions.

Convention then adjourned for one half hour.

On the expiration of the time the chairman called the house to order, when the committee on credentials and order of business made their reports, which were adopted.

The committee on resolutions then made the following report:

Resolved, That we as Republicans unanimously and heartily endorse the declaration of principles embraced in the Cincinnati platform of the National Republican party.

Resolved, That we favor all necessary movements for a State organization at an early day.

Resolved, That we, as Republicans, unanimously endorse the nomination of O. Jacobs as our delegate to Congress.

Resolved, That we unanimously endorse the nomination of J. P. Andrus as prosecuting attorney for the first judicial district, W. T.

The following supplemental resolutions were then offered by Mr. Stabler, which were adopted:

Resolved, By the Republicans of Yakima county in convention assembled, that the liquor traffic has a demoralizing influence upon society, therefore it should be discouraged by all good citizens.

Resolved, That we will support no man for office who is an habitual drunkard or who uses intoxicating liquor to excess.

Mr. Stabler then moved to strike out the second resolution. Motion lost.

The convention then organized permanently by retaining the present chairman and secretary in their positions, and proceeded to the nomination of officers with the following result: For joint councilman, Levi Farnsworth; representative, S. P. Sterling; auditor, Wilbur Masters; sheriff, Geo. Carpenter; treasurer, A. J. Pratt; county commissioners, Messrs. Huntington, Lewis and Sharp; probate judge, Mr. Kesling; school superintendent, Mr. Marks; surveyor, Ross Beck; coroner, Jas. Allen.

The convention then elected Messrs. Stabler, Benton, Bowser, Ballman and Vaughn as central committee.

On motion Messrs. Benton, Kesling and Harper were appointed a committee to tender Mr. Masters the nomination of auditor.

The convention then instructed the secretary to furnish a copy of the proceedings of this convention to the OREGONIAN, Vancouver Independent and Walla Walla Watchman.

On motion the convention adjourned sine die.

LETTER FROM PACIFIC COUNTY

OYSTERVILLE, Oct. 21, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Strange as it may seem, politics had to be set aside for awhile in this place and the people had to go oystering, five schooners having arrived within a week from San Francisco for oysters, and everybody who could has been employed loading. Three of them are loaded, and the other two ready to receive their cargo. So what with night work and bad weather, people were kind of tired when the school house bell called them together to hear politics discussed by the two candidates for prosecuting attorney of this district; but as an occurrence of that kind is rather a novelty here the schoolhouse was soon crowded with men, women and children.

Mr. Bloomfield, the Republican candidate, first took the stand, stating how an agreement had been made between him and his honorable friend, the other candidate, not to speak on local items or personalities; they would only discuss national politics, each advocating the cause and merits of his party. Although a young man he carried his audience with him, setting forth the origin and history of the two parties and the character of their candidates for President, coming down rather heavy on old Sammy and his reform experiments.

Hon. H. Lancaster, the Democratic candidate, only made some short remarks on his view of the question, tracing the origin of slavery back as far as the days of Moses. He thought the South had suffered unjustly and advocated a reform for the restoration of peace, to be accomplished by shipping new officers and a new crew to run the state ship, said officers to be Democrats, as the only way to secure a lasting prosperity. Then he congratulated this community on its progress in erecting a schoolhouse and public buildings, and closed by recommending his young opponent to the public; although holding different views on political questions he felt the highest regard for his young friend, his good moral character, integrity and ambition.

Both speakers were loudly cheered, and it was refreshing to behold the amiable feelings between the two candidates, contrasted with the occurrences narrated in my last letter.

As for our other candidates nothing can be added to the long list of recommendations in your last issue, and the intelligent voters of this and adjoining counties can tell who will do the most good for the community. Next week we expect the Hon. Judson and Hon. Jacobs to come here on electioneering business. To all appearance the latter gentleman will receive about three fourth majority.

As events pass they will be related without partiality by

TONY.

AN EXPLANATION

CORVALLIS, Oct. 21, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Allow me in explanation of the local note of the Gazette referred to in your issue of to-day to say that my informant was Hon. John Kelley, who heard Mr. Lane announce that he would withdraw. The mention was a mistake in names simply. Hoping this will be satisfactory, I remain, your truly,

W. B. HIGBY.

THE SCOTCH LOAN CO AND VIDI'S LETTER

PORTLAND, 23d October, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In "Vidi's" letter, published in the OREGONIAN some days since, he makes certain remarks which are calculated to mislead the public in reference to this company, in reply to which permit me to say:

1st. That it is untrue that half a dozen Portland speculators own this corporation. It is owned by seventy or more stockholders in Scotland and elsewhere.

2d. It is also untrue that besides ten per cent interest this company charges a borrower (first) one to two per cent for attorney's fees and inspection of title, and (second) two to three per cent more as additional commission for negotiating a loan. This latter assertion is false, as the company never has charged a borrower any commissions, directly or indirectly, for negotiating a loan. Its moneys are loaned on long time, for two, three, four, five or six years, in the borrower's own option, and repayable by instalment or in one sum; and as is usual and the invariable custom in this State as well as in every other State and country in the world, the borrower pays the attorney's fees of mortgage, examination of records, titles, and abstract. Thereafter nothing more is paid by the borrower than the yearly interest, which is only calculated—after the instalments are paid in—upon the balance of debt due at the end of each year and not in advance.

3. Its moneys, when once invested, never go back to Scotland "doubled," as "Vidi" says is the case. The company's investments in Oregon are, it is well known, increasing in amount year after year, thus bringing more capital yearly into the State for the development of its farm and other industries, nevertheless which "Vidi" foolishly alleges that our moneys "have not made a permanent improvement to the value of one single dollar in the State." Any sensible person can see the absurdity of the statement, which, were it true, would reflect little credit upon the ability, judgment and capacity for improvement of the many farmers in Oregon who obtained moneys from us to improve, extend and purchase new farms, and upon those residents of Portland who, with the assistance of our moneys, have built valuable houses and brick buildings in this city. Yours respectfully,

WM. REID.

Lord Dufferin is a man in whom one's faith of there being something after all in blood revives; for to slightly alter what he wittily says of himself, is he not his great grandfather's grandson, and an Irish peer to boot? With such ancestors to sustain him as the famous Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the statesman and author—he whose mother in many a passage at-arms with Dean Swift worsted her clever opponent with her quick wit and repartee; and the former Countess of Dufferin, the mother of the present Earl, the author of the beautiful Irish ballads; his aunt, too, the Honorable Mrs Norton, whose "Bingen on the Rhine" every schoolboy knows by heart, and many others, Sheridan LeFanu and Rhoda Broughton among the rest, show at least that they come rightfully by their talent and that the blood has not degenerated. Lord Dufferin married his kinswoman, Harriet Hamilton, of Killyleagh Castle, the grand daughter of the celebrated Archibald Rowan, by whom he has seven beautiful children. The old[illegible] Viscount Claudeboye, the heir, is but thirteen years old. Lady Dufferin is a fitting helpmate to her distinguished husband, a young, beautiful and accomplished lady, a woman of society in its best aspect, a charming hostess, a brilliant writer and the finest amateur actress in Ireland. Their home at Rideau Hall, in Canada, like their magnificent estate, Claudeboye, in Ireland, is celebrated, even among their American friends, for being a refined and artistic household, whose presiding genius is a hospitality that is lavishness itself, and they come among us to-day not strangers, but as distinguished guests, to whom we are proud and glad to bid a hearty welcome.

Laborers are very scarce in and about Steilacoom. A logger has been in town for several days endeavoring to hire men to work in his camp, but has so far failed to engage any one.

TO THE VOTERS OF COWLITZ AND WAHKIAKUM COUNTIES

ILWACO, PACIFIC CO., W. T., Oct. 9.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN of October 7th, 1876, contains an address to the independent voters of your counties, signed by M. S. Griswold, chairman of the committee on nominations for Pacific County Independent Convention. In this address Mr. Griswold says: "The avowed object of this candidate (C. A. Reed) is local legislation, the nature of which is understood to be a threat against property and vested rights." In Pacific county it is well understood that such a charge has no foundation in truth and needs neither refutation nor comment from me, but in the counties of Cowlitz and Wahkiakum, where I am not so well known, it is possible some might be found to credit Mr. Griswold's statement. I desire first to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Griswold, in making this charge, leaves you altogether in the dark as to the nature or character of the proposed local legislation which he says is my avowed object. If there was even the shadow of foundation for such a charge, why does he not out with it like a man, so that you can get an intelligent understanding of the matter upon which to base your action at the polls on the 7th day of November next. But he studiously avoids any such explanation for fear of exposing the secrets of the little squad of men for whom he assumes to speak. The promiscuous jingle of words in which this gentleman indulges himself when he says "threats against property and vested rights," "French socialism," "American soil," and "the preponderance of a foreign vote," etc., bears the indelible impress of the political trickster and demagogue. In regard to the preponderance of the foreign vote in this county, such is not the fact; while it is true we have quite a number of citizens in this county of foreign birth who are as a class industrious, useful and enterprising, and who, in point of intelligence and integrity of character, will bear favorable comparison with the average citizens of this county. And now as to my avowed object, for it is true that I have one, and do not hesitate to say what that object is. As a citizen and tax payer of Pacific county my object now is and has been in time past, to promote the general prosperity of the county by giving proper encouragement to the development of each and every one of its rich and varied natural resources; to use my best endeavors to hasten the survey of agricultural lands and thereby open them up to actual settlers who come to cultivate the soil; to aid in the construction of public roads wherever they are found practicable, and in cases where there is too little local labor to insure their speedy construction, if there is no authority in law by which the county commissioners are justified in appropriating money, then I am in favor of legislation to enable them to do so in all cases where the advantages to be desired will fully justify the outlay. What I have said in regard to this matter is and shall be my object for all the counties which compose this council district. If elected to the office for which I am nominated, my object shall be first to make myself thoroughly acquainted with the legislative wants of the whole district without regard to the particular county in which I happen to reside, especially with the great salmon fishing interests now only partially developed, the greater portion of which are located within the limits of this council district. I shall deem it my imperative duty to visit and consult representative men who are engaged in that branch of industry, and solicit advice and information in regard to what legislation, if any, is necessary to secure its permanent prosperity. Having secured proper knowledge of the legislative wants of the district, you can rest assured that no effort shall be spared on my part, by all honorable means, to promote the best interests of the whole district.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 26, 1876.

THE SITUATION AT THE SOUTH.

The telegraphic dispatches received during the last few days, show that the disorders in the South were not exaggerated in the first reports. No doubt can now be entertained that a reign of terror exists in certain localities, if indeed any locality is free from it. Nor can any fair minded person fail to see that the tyranny and lawlessness of the white people is the true source of the trouble. It is unquestionably disagreeable enough to the whites to have placed upon an equality with themselves a class of people towards whom they feel all the prejudices of a life-long education under the debasing influences of the system of African slavery, a class, too, ignorant, jealous, and suspicious to a degree, of which the people of the North have no adequate conception. This, all will agree, is a trying situation for both whites and blacks But [illegible] have all the advantages of ex[illegible] in public affairs and ought to [illegible] learned moderation and toleration. [illegible] of meeting the passions of the [illegible] with violence, they should be ex[illegible] to bear themselves in a manner [illegible] a race who, from the nature of [illegible] must eventually rule the South. [illegible] can have good order in their coun[illegible] if they choose it; but they can not [illegible] by murdering negroes nor by as[illegible] white Republicans.

[illegible] official report of the investigation [illegible], a summary of which [illegible] Wednesday morning, shows the [illegible] State to be no less than [illegible] Carolina; and the report [illegible] Lloyd on the situation in South [illegible] as hideous a picture as [illegible] exuberant fancy could paint. [illegible] States the murder of Republicans [illegible] negroes is a daily occurrence. Col[illegible] peaceably working in the cot[illegible] are shot down by assassins who [illegible] in the fence corners. A [illegible] by a ball [illegible] rifle, and his neighbors [illegible] for a physician for him [illegible] humanity may cost [illegible]. At last one is found [illegible] on the mission of mercy, but [illegible] on the road and warned not to [illegible] on that mission at peril of his [illegible] professing not to send a physician [illegible] is allowed to go his way; and [illegible] reaches the physician and [illegible] to go to the dying man, the [illegible] to do so out of fear of [illegible]. At another point some [illegible] are found, fully [illegible] drawn up in military [illegible] of helpless negroes, [illegible] timely arrival of United [illegible] to an indiscrim[illegible] [illegible] of the state of so[illegible] is not to be pre[illegible] of the negroes is al[illegible]. But are they to be [illegible] as they are no [illegible] people? Conceal it as [illegible] away from us as we may, [illegible] upon the country, [illegible] of the South shall [illegible] the country and the laws [illegible] to the colored [illegible] which humanity accords [illegible] on earth, or [illegible] submit to the consti[illegible] as others do. It has come [illegible] the people who love justice [illegible] may as well make up [illegible]. The Democratic party [illegible] its natural position as the de[illegible] supporter of violence and out[illegible]. It is for Republicans to see to it [illegible] ment is kept in the hands [illegible] of the constitution and of [illegible] of rights which the consti[illegible] shall be enjoyed by every [illegible] which a law higher than any [illegible] declares to be the in[illegible] of every human being.

[illegible] about the country, there [illegible] patriotic Democrats, who, in [illegible] mercenary purposes and tenden[illegible] the Democratic party, are seriously re[illegible] it is not their duty to with[illegible] from it. It has been found [illegible] the performance of all its fair [illegible]. Its control of the House [illegible] has given it opportunity to [illegible] of reform, but instead of [illegible] the policy of the party [illegible] and reaction. How [illegible] the worst element in the South, [illegible] the efforts of the government [illegible] national finances on a firm and [illegible], how to draw money from [illegible] to pay Southern claims—these are [illegible] have absorbed the attention of [illegible] majority. The masses of the [illegible] party, like the masses in all polit[illegible] are honest, and those of [illegible] can so far free their minds from the [illegible] are beginning to realize [illegible] hollow are the pretenses of their leaders [illegible] it would be to the peace, [illegible] and prosperity of the country to [illegible] to absolute power in the [illegible]. When the ballots shall be counted [illegible] for Hayes and Wheeler will [illegible] that thousands of honest Demo[illegible] have quietly made up their minds to [illegible] by the party in whose hands the safety of free institutions is secure.

This is the way the Richmond Whig philosophizes over the defeat of the Democracy in Ohio and the prospect that Indiana will go for Hayes in November:

"Why, should the Democracy of States in the last election decidedly Democratic be dis[illegible] because their allies in those two [illegible] that we had no hope of carrying when the platform was adopted and Gov. Tilden nominated at St. Louis against their protests, should fail to achieve the victory now? We at least were honest and meant what we said when we urged the nomination of Tilden, and insisted that the vote of no Western State north of the Ohio river could be relied upon for the Democracy, and was not required to insure a majority of the electoral vote. We repeat to-day what we then said, with [illegible] confidence. The South, sick and tired of military rule and corrupt carpet bag governments, will rally unitedly to the support of the great reformer and the vote of the three pronounced Democratic States of the North—New York, New Jersey and Connecticut—with the two upon the Pacific—California and Oregon—are alone wanting to make [illegible] his election."

New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and the two on the Pacific—that is all Tilden [illegible] to elect him! The Whig is like the boy [illegible] when hunting squirrels, was asked [illegible] he met, what success he was having. "Splendid," said the lad, 'when I catch the one I am after now, and five more, I'll have half a dozen."

The application for troops to preserve order in Louisiana, would certainly be received with greater favor by the country at large, if it did not come through such machine politicians as Senator West. His name has become odious in his own State, and a stench abroad This fact, however, should not affect the case, if he is backed up by good evidence of the truth of his representations, which he certainly seems to be. Perhaps the Louisiana people who desire the aid of the government to preserve order have acted discreetly in selecting West to carry their request to Washington, as there is every reason to think that men of his kind have peculiar influence with this peculiar administration.

A gentleman at Oysterville feeling aggrieved because his name has been mentioned in the political controversy that has been going on through the OREGONIAN about local offices, sends us a communication which he calls an answer to one of the letters heretofore published. But instead of answer to anything stated in the letter, it is a series of personal accusations against other men who have been referred to. We desire to be just, and we have no bias in the matter, but we must be excused from lending the columns of the OREGONIAN to the style of discussion which this gentleman adopts.

Mr. Morrill, Secretary of the Treasury, freely expresses the opinion, founded on his correspondence with the syndicate abroad, that the success of the Democracy in this election would obstruct the negotiation of the new four and a half per cent. loan, and perhaps make it impossible to get it all taken. The bare possibility of a Democratic victory impairs the credit of our government. The people have before them the prospect of a continuance of high rates of interest on the public debt as one of the first results of the election of Tilden.

New York is sadly in need of a visit from John I. Davenport. The enormous registration there indicates that Tilden's barrel of money is doing its work, and it is by no means certain that anything short of the genius of John I. will be able to prevent the perpetration of wholesale fraud in the interest of the great reformer of Tammany. But John I. will hardly be on hand. The Department of Justice is not feeling so much solicitude about the result of the election as it felt four years ago. It makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored.

We have been shown a letter from a gentleman of some prominence in Klickitat county, W. T., in which he says he has traveled over pretty nearly all the county lately, and is satisfied, from what he heard in various places, that Mr. M. R. Hathaway, Republican candidate for Joint Councilman for Clarke, Skamania, Klickitat and Yakima counties, will receive a large majority in Klickitat. Mr. Hathaway is a worthy man and well qualified for the important office for which he has been nominated.

Richard Williams is for civil service reform. He plants his feet on the rock of pure administration, along with Governor Hayes. Lafayette Lane is a Bourbon reactionist, and a machine politician whose influence is, and always will be, in favor of the Democratic spoils system. Which will you have, voters of Oregon? Have you been sincere in your demand for reform? If so, can you vote for Lane?

Senator Carpenter appeals to Republicans of his State not to bolt the ticket out of revenge against those who bolted his nomination two years ago. This is manly. To bolt a candidate merely for personal ill-feeling is as much beneath an honest and patriotic man as to vote for an unworthy candidate merely because he is the party nominee.

The New York Telegraph has this malicious reference to a sheriff's sale of property, near that city, belonging to a noted resident of Oregon:

It was a poor Holladay for Ben, in Winchester, yesterday, when his interest in half the county went for six thousand dollars.

The card of Mr. Higby, which appears this morning was unavoidably crowded out heretofore. It appears the Gazette made a mistake of names in the item referred to.

OWING TO THE REPORT THAT HAS BEEN circulated by Wm J Quirk to the effect that I withdrew my suit against him because I could not find him guilty I wish to state a few facts Why did he pay me the sum of $350 in gold coin in the presence of H Y Thompson and W H. Ettinger on the 3d day of July last if he was not guilty? Why did he acknowledge to Julius M Moreland, in a lawyer's office on the 9th of March last that he was guilty, and begged me in the name of God not to prosecute him nor force him to marry me? All I want is for him to prove that he is not guilty Because I was a poor girl he was allowed to escape the punishment due him I left him in better hands but the day will come when he will have to appear before One to whom he cannot plead not guilty That is all the consolation that I have in this wide and wicked world For the sake of justice to me and mine I make this statement. GENERAL LANE'S SPEECH.

Though last evening was anything but agreeable so far as the weather was concerned, New Market Theater was crowded to repletion with ladies and gentlemen of all political creeds to hear the speech of Gen Jo Lane Judge W W Page introduced the aged statesman in a highly eulogistic speech—in fact a biography in brief of Gen Lane from his early youth to the present time Judge Page acquitted himself with credit and really carried off the oratorical honors of the evening Gen Lane opened his address in a slow deliberate manner, but his voice is so impaired that he was not heard distinctly in many parts of the hall He was digressive and disconnected in his argument, but claimed he was not an orator and had not the voice of twenty years ago He handled the so called corruptionists without gloves, paid his respects in forcible and emphatic language to many of Oregon's prominent men, including Senator Williams, Govs. Gibbs and Woods, and Sam May He claimed that in the early days of the struggle of the rebellion Mr Tilden was the confidential adviser of Mr Lincoln and helped from his private purse to uniform and outfit the Tammany regiment Gen Lane dwelt at length upon Ingersoll, Kirkpatrick and the "bloody shirt" campaign in Indiana. He paid a high tribute to Custer and the brave soldiers who fell with him, and laid the cause of the disaster at the door of the present administration through its mismanagement. His address throughout was characterized by a current of quiet humor, and he made many telling points which brought down thunders of applause from his Democratic brethren At the conclusion of the address the Marionettes produced their transformation scene which concluded with a picture of Tilden and Hendricks the chiaroscuro of which will never place the artist at the top of the ladder as a painter After the transformation scene was over and the greater part of the audience had departed Gen Lane held a levee with several of his lady friends, and we must say, from the many compliments he paid them during his speech the little ovation was deserved

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' CONVENTION.

An adjourned meeting of the Convention of Soldiers and Sailors was held last night at Grand Army Hall The convention adopted a resolution inviting all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors and marines to meet in convention at such place as shall be designated by the committee of arrangements in the city of Portland on the 29th day of May 1877 A committee was appointed to co operate with the Grand Army of the Republic in the proper observance of Decoration Day, 1877 and make arrangements for a convention of soldiers and sailors according to the previous resolution after which the convention adjourned

After the convention had adjourned a call was made for all those in favor of the election of Hayes and Wheeler to remain in the hall Van B Delashmutt was elected president and N S Pierce secretary On motion the meeting resolved itself into "The Soldiers and Sailors Hayes and Wheeler Club of Portland" On motion the temporary officers were declared the permanent officers of the club An executive committee and a canvassing committee to secure names to the roll were appointed The club passed a resolution in favor of joining the other Republican organizations in a torchlight procession on Friday evening next, and adjourned to meet at Oro Fino Hall at 6½ o clock P M , Friday Oct 27 All soldiers and sailors are invited to be present and act with the club on that night

AMUSEMENTS.

LAST NIGHT'S PERFORMANCE —Considering the inclemency of the weather and the counter attractions a large audience was present last evening at Oro Fino Theater to witness the opening performance given there by the Sawtelle troupe The beautiful drama of Driven From Home was rendered in a very acceptable manner to the audience M Sawtelle personated the character of "Farmer Allen" His rendering of that part was very creditable and fully sustained his reputation as an actor of no ordinary ability Mrs Sawtelle assumed the character of Dora with that sweetness and grace properly belonging to the part Mr Gordon personated the character of Luke Bloomfield and Mr Howard that of "William Allen" Both gentlemen did their respective parts justice and received much merited applause Miss Katie Lamm a young lady of very pleasing manners and easy address assumed the role of Mary the devoted wife of the discarded son in a way which created a very favorable impression The Two Puddifoots a capital farce closed the evening's entertainment To night the beautiful play of Rosedale will be produced the cast including the full strength of the company To morrow morning the company will leave for the Sound and Victoria and as this will be the last opportunity of witnessing the performance theater goers should not neglect to attend

REST

My feet are wearied, and my hands are tired—
My soul oppressed—
And with desire have I long desired
Rest—only rest
'Tis hard to toil—when toil is almost vain
In barren ways
'Tis hard to sow and never garner grain
In harvest days
The burden of my days is hard to bear
But God knows best
And I have prayed but vain has been my prayer
For rest—sweet rest
'Tis hard to plant in spring and never reap
The autumn yield
'Tis hard to till—and when 'tis tilled to weep
O'er fruitless field
And so I cry a weak and human cry
So heart oppressed,
And so I sigh a weak and human sigh
For rest—for rest.
My way has wound across the desert years
And cares infest
My path and through the flowing of hot tears
I pine for rest.
'Twas always so, when still a child, I laid
On mother's breast
My weary little head, e'en then I prayed,
As now, for rest
And I am restless still 'Twill soon be o'er
For down the west
Life's sun is setting, and I see the shore
Where I shall rest. —Father Ryan.

A SINGULAR CHARITY

It may be thought a singular purpose of [illegible] to provide for the marriage of poor [illegible]," and one that would accomplish but little in a field where the objects would be so [illegible], nevertheless the benevolent de[illegible] of men have been turned in that chan[illegible], as well as in other various directions [illegible] the statute. By the will of Mr [illegible] a wealthy London brewer, a fund [illegible] for just such a purpose. [illegible] the notable charitable institutions of [illegible], there is none more novel in incep[illegible] unique in management than [illegible] established by him in 1736, [illegible] forty young girls [illegible] On arriving at the age of 22, any girl [illegible] has been educated in the asylum, and who can produce satisfactory testimonials of her conduct while in service, may become a [illegible] for a marriage portion of £100, for which six girls are allowed to draw twice in [illegible], on the 1st of May and the 6th of [illegible]. The drawing is in this manner [illegible], in compliance with the ex[illegible] of Mr. Raine, takes a half [illegible] paper and writes thereon "the [illegible] hundred pounds." Next, he [illegible] will correspond with the [illegible]. Each of these [illegible] rolled tightly round a little [illegible] of wood, tied with a narrow green rib[illegible], the knot of which is firmly sealed The [illegible] are then formally deposited in a large [illegible] upon a small table in the mid[illegible] of the [illegible] This being done, the candi[illegible] one at a time, advance toward the can[illegible] drawing therefrom one of the small [illegible]. When all have thus drawn they pro[illegible] the [illegible] woman, who cuts the ribbon [illegible] each roll, and bids the candi[illegible] the various papers. There is no [illegible] of them has gained the [illegible] of the fortunate [illegible] girl [illegible] I the [illegible] more [illegible] by the lips. OF BLOOD DRINKING.

[illegible] has been quite popular [illegible], and many invalids daily visit [illegible] New York for the purpose of [illegible] warm life blood of the ox. It is [illegible] known however—[illegible] for blood increases upon [illegible] indulge in it. Women, who at [illegible] and some horror, [illegible] the warm, crimson gore, grad[illegible] a craving for it, and take down [illegible] with evident relish Parties un[illegible] spell almost invariably mani[illegible] to try the effect of human blood. [illegible] of this kind have been reported [illegible] York. A young lady belonging to [illegible] the first families suffered in health [illegible] herself to her academical [illegible] Her medical attendant, who vouches [illegible] blood-drinking Per[illegible] and the [illegible] privacy were secured [illegible] abattoir. Salutary effects were not long [illegible]. The pallor left her cheek, her [illegible] robust, and in ten months [illegible] fifteen pounds in weight. [illegible] a pale and uninteresting [illegible] she developed into a radiant [illegible], and she married the assistant of the [illegible] who had saved her life. Well [illegible] with the means by which she had [illegible], her husband encouraged her [illegible] regarding the effect of differ[illegible] of blood; and probably quite as [illegible] for the purpose of his own professional [illegible] as for the gratification of her own [illegible] a small artery in his leg and [illegible] her to suck the vital tide An in[illegible] for her husband's blood forth[illegible] He gratified the craving [illegible] again, until disgust for her became [illegible] feeling of his mind, and [illegible] himself a great amount of [illegible] he bade her a final adieu and [illegible]. The wretched young wife [illegible] on a sick bed, and almost entirely [illegible] on blood brought from an abattoir [illegible] on this subject, and had [illegible] would undoubtedly become [illegible] pire, and banquet perpetually on hu[illegible].

[illegible] case is that of a woman of 25 [illegible] with a decline. By the advice of [illegible] she took, four times a day a tea[illegible] ful of cod liver oil mixed in a wineglass[illegible] of blood. The woman was restored to [illegible], but while she left off taking the oil, [illegible] continued the dose of blood Her hus[illegible] met with an accident on a railroad and by this means his wife got a taste of his blood, [illegible] from that time she became irresistibly [illegible] to repeat the taste Absolute re[illegible] straints had to be resorted to to stop her She [illegible] by her unnatural indulgence. —Albany Argus.

The South Carolina Democrats have a new [illegible] for proscription, which is their most [illegible] form of intimidation, they call it "preference." What they mean by it is thus unblushingly explained by their organ The Charleston News and Courier "We propose to say to the Republican voters 'We shall no matter what the inconvenience, employ those who are members of Democratic clubs and vote for Hampton, in preference to those who vote for Chamberlain and Elliott We will give work to those who follow Hampton and go with us and we will not give that work to those who by their votes seek to defeat, hurt and ruin us They who vote with us are our friends, and we will take care of them They who vote for the Robber ticket are our enemies and we will have nothing to do with them' Let the Democracy say this and act upon it, and every Republican will have one good reason for hurrahing for Hampton for every dollar he expects to earn during the year"

A gentleman was riding on a stage coach down in Maine when the driver looking ahead offered to bet that a man who was walking along was a Democrat. The gentleman, who was near sighted took the bet As they approached the man the driver drew up his horses, and the gentleman saw that the fellow was intoxicated "Look here, old fellow," said the driver "Ain't you a Democrat?" The intoxicated individual staggered up against the wall, and after rolling his eyes [illegible] exclaimed. The recent activity in all departments of trade has run out [illegible] from utilizing a good deal of capital which had been lying idle for some time and which with the money sent here for investment in grain makes the actual amount now afloat in the community greater than it has for many months. Wheat exporters are well supplied with ready money and many sales effected are on a cash basis entirely The loanable funds offered to outside parties though not perhaps quite as plentiful as two months ago are nevertheless amply sufficient to meet the current demand

The mercantile agency of Dun Barlow & Co reports the liabilities of the failures in the United States during the third quarter of this year at $47 [illegible] against $13,[illegible]000 during the second quarter. For nine months of the current year the liabilities of bankrupt concerns amounted to $191 [illegible] against $162,[illegible]800 in the same time last year California failures were only 36 firms with $[illegible] liabilities during the last nine months against $1 [illegible] in the same time last year. Oregon is credited in the report with 26 failures in which the aggregate amount involved was $290,716 against 1[illegible] failures and $210,445 in the first nine months of 1875

The annual report of the New York Clearing House Association show the transactions to have been enormous Currency clearances for the year just ended were $19,874,715,960 currency balances $1,009,531,937 gold clearances $1,721,153,991 gold balances, $185,508,901 transactions for the year $122,892,316,275. The average transactions per day at the house for the year are $70,349,427. The total amount for twenty-three years is given as $461,092,617,796

Domestic Produce.

There is a good deal of activity in the produce market, and prices for nearly all kinds are looking up. It is reported that a greater portion of the wheat crop is being stored to await better rates but a very large amount is being sent forward to tide water and the several vessels on the berth and loading are promised fair dispatch Exporters regard the market as uncertain and are therefore operating very cautiously, while speculators occasionally accept lots at a figure which the present outlook will not allow shippers to pay. We hear of sales at $1 50@1 52½ alongside and it is said as high as $1 55 has been offered The latest European advices are a little more favorable and holders are consequently firm in their demand for better figures here. There are now quite a number of vessels at hand and others nearly due. The tonnage supply at San Francisco is also reported abundant and though the rates asked are quite high compared with those which prevailed earlier in the season, charters are brisk and a number of vessels were taken there last week at prices ranging from £3 2s 6d@£3 5s, which latter figure was regarded as the maximum to a direct port The operations in our home market so far this season has been very carefully carried on and exporters declare that they will take no such chances as in former years preferring to be on the safe side, to running the risks of large gains when the chances of large losses are equally as many

Aside from the wheat market other products are also in good demand at our quotations, both for the local trade and for shipment. Flour bacon and dried fruits bring full prices and find ready sale. Bacon is very scarce, and choice side meats have been sold during the week at 17c in jobbing lots Sun dried apples bring 6@7c ℔ ℔ The wool market has nearly closed for the season, though a few small lots are still coming forward and selling at our quoted rates.
